Privy Council Dismisses Appeal of Province on Succession Duties

LONDON, July 27.—One of the most important Canadian appeals before the judicial committee of the Privy Council for some time, their lordships have ruled the Alberta government has no right to exact succession duties on estate property either within or without the province.

The Privy Council dismissed the appeal of the province of Alberta from a decision of the Alberta court of appeal that the government cannot impose succession duties on property outside the province, and that the government was entitled to impose such duties on personal property within the province.

CROSS-APPEAL ALLOWED

The Privy Council allowed the cross-appeal of the province of Alberta of a late I. K. Kerr, who maintained the government cannot impose succession duties on property outside the province, and that the government was entitled to impose such duties on personal property within the province.

The indictment was regarded as the state's first frontal attack on racketeering and the violence it had brought into highly organized industries in Chicago.

Aaron Sapiro, a lawyer, was a leader in the early days of the movement, according to the indictment.

Aaron Sapiro first flashed into prominence when he organized the citrus fruit growers of California to compete with Florida. He received considerable publicity at that time and as a result was brought to Alberta by the Calgary Herald and the Edmonton Journal of organize the Alberta Wheat Pool, over the opposition of the farmers at that time, although the government later got behind the movement. Sapiro was re-elected with the Alberta Wheat Pool, and since that time has been more or less in the news because of his various political associations.

This is the first time, however, that he has been charged as an aider and abettor.

He was always an advocate of legal force being used to compel allegiance to the pool, and from then engaged in similar activities as the organizations he formed.

GREELEY, Neb., July 27.—Somewhere in Wheeler County there's a jack rabbit that's alive because of an auto.

TRY NEARER HOME

Premier Bennett says if President Roosevelt wants to save civilisation he should close up Wall Street. That might help, though it is not reported that the President had asked for outside advice on the matter.

Meanwhile, why not shorten the range and deal with something nearer home? Wall Street is outside Mr. Bennett's jurisdiction, but St. James Street is well within reach. And Wall Street does not seem to be dictating policy to President Roosevelt in any measure comparable to the influence of St. James Street in the councils of the Government of Canada.

If St. James Street didn't demand a rigid adherence to "sound money" and uncontrolled deflation, who did?

NEWFOUNDLAND IN TROUBLE

Newfoundland appears to have got so far in debt that only an appointed administration can pull it out. That at any rate is the conclusion of a commission that has investigated its financial entanglements and reported to the Government of Great Britain.

The recommendation is not adopted, this will no doubt be on condition that the Newfoundland Government change its ways and accept virtual direction from those from whom it has borrowed money. Indians, Canadians will note with interest, the Government will not.

Canada last year joined Great Britain in making a loan to Newfoundland, with a view to averting a crisis there. Apparently the crisis was only delayed, and now arrives. As a "creditor nation," Canada will naturally have to bear the cost of the measures taken to set the financial complications in order; and a corresponding measure of responsibility for the results.

Whatever precipitated the situation, it is not a sudden development and has been in the making for ten years. The financial heart of the island province has not been a happy one for some time. Government after Government has fallen there in the last quarter of a century, usually on account of money difficulties. The root of the trouble seems to be that it is an expensive country to govern, its rather limited resources taken into account.

CANADA'S CLOSED "NATIONAL" PARK

The claim that the Dominion Government should assist in the completion of the Jasper Highway is less a claim that the Dominion should help the province of Alberta than that it should help itself.

The reason for the building of the highway is Jasper Park, the property of the Dominion, not the province. The Government of Canada, directly and through the National Railways, has spent an immense amount of money in developing a great national playground there. But the park is not a playground to play. Mainly because they cannot get there except by railway.

Perhaps tourists should go there by rail in vast numbers, but they don't, and won't. Jasper Park has never become a popular playground in reality until it is accessible by motor car from Edmonton.

Dominion Governments, past and present, seem to have been deluding themselves with the idea that the Park could be developed by the railroads, the National Railways, and made to pay on that basis. It is time to stop fighting facts and recognize realities. Highway-seekers travel now by motor car, in so large a proportion that a resort which cannot be reached by motor car is not a resort at all.

Canada has lost hundreds of thousands of dollars on the experiment of keeping Jasper Park closed to motor tourists. It has lost several times what it would cost to make the Jasper Highway a reality and it has lost the trade that the country to the Park. It is time to stop that folly, and as a matter of elementary business and fairness to Dominion taxpayers to give the Park a chance to pay its way.

An owner of the Jasper Park land of whatever accommodation facilities and tourist accommodations are offered there, the Dominion can collect revenue from sight-seers—but not until the sight-seers go to the Park.

AN ALBERTA CONTEST

The competition in wheat at Regina turned out to be a contest between Alberta exhibitors. They captured 24 out of the 50 prizes, taking the first six straight, with Foothills, St. Viateur, Stavely holding the grand championship in the hard red spring wheat competition.

The two dozen Alberta prize-winners farm at points as far apart as Stavely, Wainwright, Weyburn, Athabasca, Edmonton, Cypress, Vermilion, Grande Prairie, Fisher, Bon Accord, Lacombe, Tofield, Calahoo. Not only is the world's best wheat grown in Alberta; it is grown in all parts of Alberta, from the settlements north of the Peace River to the far south of the province.

One can never tell, when a world grain fair is staged, what point in Alberta will be found in the centre of the spot light. But it is good guessing that some one whose name does not ring off the tongue will bring home the grand championship.

Among the prize winners of course appear several names well known to newspaper readers, including Herman Treille of Wembley and Fred Smith of Willow Creek, both of whom at the Chicago International. This is a matter of course. But there appear also a score of names that are new to the public.

That is more significant, and perhaps more important, than the fact that the leaders are losing none of their interest in the struggle to excel. It indicates that year by year other farmers in all corners of the province are entering the lists, and winning success.

Through the efforts of such men the average quality of wheat grown on Alberta farms is being steadily improved and this province is gaining a position all its own among the great wheat-producing areas of the world. It has wheat-soil and climate, it also has with the skill and the will to produce the finest wheat of which the soil and climate are capable, and their number is growing in all sections.

"THE BATTLE OF THE NIRA"

President Roosevelt's National Industrial Recovery Act, which has been initially summarized into NIRA, has popularized the name of the most radical measure of control which American industry has ever had to face. It not only commands each branch of business to draw up its own code of wages and prices, but it gives the president power to affect the codes and to punish offenders for non-compliance. It orders industries to form associations instead of forbidding these as being "in restraint of trade." It applies not only to makers but to distributors. Retailers, manufacturers, contractors must have their codes as well as manufacturers.

The NIRA battle is being waged over so great a front that it is impossible at this stage to gauge what is happening or what the final result will be. There is complaisance on the one hand that several important industries have made codes, and there is defiance on the part of others, notably the coal miners, who say that the administration is already dead with work. But the fact remains that what is now being done is, from a business viewpoint, almost revolutionary, so completely does it upset all business tradition, so radically does it free business from the shackles of antitrust, which industry has heretofore claimed for itself.—Toronto Star.

COLLECTING TAXES

The City of Edmonton is reported to be considering a plan to collect taxes by monthly installments instead of in lump sum, and the Winnipeg Free Press expresses the opinion that Winnipeg might well look into the scheme.

Most cities have been having difficulty with tax collections during the past few years, and there is a general desire to find a way to keep the dollars to the municipal treasury. Some cities, like Vancouver, give a discount for prompt payment. Others impose a penalty for delay. Some will accept payment in such installments as may be agreed upon, subject to a deduction of sums deposited before the taxes are due. It used to be a case of "pay or we shall take your property away." But now it is "we should like very much for you to pay. If you do not, we may have to take your property away." We should regret the necessary. We do not want to make it difficult for you to pay your taxes.—Vancouver Province.

Health and Diet Advice

By Dr. Frank McCay

The treatment described for stomach ulcers in yesterday's article should be continued until all sores and tenderness does better by remaining in bed for at least the first few days while taking this diet. Hot applications several times daily are beneficial. A large deep therapy lamp is best suited for this purpose, but, if you do not have one of these, use an electric heater, directing the heat in the direction of the skin. The heat will bring a larger supply of blood to the region of the stomach and assist in relieving soreness.

Massage treatment should be used if it is obtainable and some exercises in the morning should be done in bed. After the massage, relax the muscles of the stomach region, rather keep the abdominal muscles relaxed until the healing has gone start. Remain in bed as long as possible if the case is severe, although it is all right to walk now and then if one does not become fatigued. Because of the lack of blood in the diet, the patient should be allowed to move around and go about their ordinary occupations, but it is advisable to remain on the milk diet for some length of time, take a walk, for instance, three to four months on the milk diet, and then gradually increase the diet.

The world now has the choice of getting back to Liberal principles or going forward to Fascism and Socialism. The former is the only way to live in comparative freedom. The latter is the only way to destroy the economic and social fabric of our society. The Fascist that is the greater threat to the Americas. QUESTION AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mrs. Eleanor B. writes: "I have palpitation of the heart, but all the doctor does is to give me pills. I am told that the trouble becomes bad. I know I eat well, but when the trouble becomes bad, I know I won't eat. Please gas my stomach. Please mark off the gassy foods I should not eat. I am enclosing a list of the foods I eat."

ANSWER: As you did not give me your name and address, I could not send you a direct answer. So I merely name those foods you have listed which often affect the stomach. Gas is produced when certain foods are digested and when the body is not able to digest them. Gas is produced when the body is not able to digest certain foods. The following are exceptional, though the courage displayed and the chances taken by the eaters frequently involve grave risk of death. However, the force is forced by recognition and continual for the very good reason that it seldom fails to "get its man" and bring him to justice.

Ridder, Hartland, Ont., fourth. M. J. Trowell, Salteats, Fall River, Ont., eighth and Dick Ziegen, Hafford, Hulless barley, ninth.

Frank S. Noyes, N. Marquette, B.C., was second to Fournier in the un-hulled rice, with another grower from Sioux, N.D., third. Sundaram, Chittenden, Vt., and Mandan, Minn., placed fourth and fifth.

WEDDINGS DEACON—GROSS

A VERY pretty wedding took place at St. Stephen's Anglican church when Wm. Ernest, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Deacon, married Miss M. A. Deacon, eldest daughter of Capt. A. J. and Mrs. Deacon, at the church on the 23rd instant. The ceremony before a bridal party was conducted by Rev. Mr. Deacon, making a charming setting. The bride was dressed in a white gown with a lace-trimmed bodice and a long embroidered train, while her maid of honour wore a white dress with a lace-trimmed bodice and a long embroidered train.

GRITS DEFEAT WILSON SQUAD IN GOOD GAME

Young Liberals Unleash Attack in Two Frames for Great Victory

By JACK DESKIN

Some years ago there sprung up a feud in our local baseball circles between the then Stockyard Bulls and the team that was variously known as Yoemen, Cubs and Imperials. . . . No matter what you call them, it must be remembered there was always a particularly strong rivalry between this pair. . . . And the two clubs always wanted to be at the respective throats of each other's ambitions. . . . And the rivalry grew with each passing season.

Now, years after it first started, you can find that feud still lingering down.

The teams are now named the Royals and Cubs, and there are no more Yoemen or Imperials original squads playing as rivals.

And you can find, with no effort, that the old-time unfriendly feeling has grown, rather than decreased, since the days when the first game on the old Boyce Street Park a half-decent seasons and more ago.

Cubs are at present out in front in the dash for the pennant in the Senior Baseball League.

Royals are just a notch behind the Cubs, and their supporters figure South Siders are playing "cousin" to the Cubs, and are trying to put them the Cub's out of the race.

Which is undoubtedly the idea to get the two clubs to fight, and that's how they feel. . . . And such an idea only serves to intensify the old-time enmity as they race down the stretch that leads to a berth in the city playoffs.

With a feeling such as that existing, it's a cinch there's going to be a torrid used, before any team can make its mark on the schedule. . . . And there'll be no easy task trying to pick the eventual winner. . . .

Mrs Roy Horne, who has shone with her golfing skill, and whose women's golf circuit locally the last few seasons, is here for men's golf, and she's taking advantage of this opportunity to accept in to her present form.

In an interview made with Mrs. Horne at the Edmonton Golf and Country Club, she broke women's golf. One stroke with a fine card of 75.

GOLDS KEEPS LEAD

Golds continued their run lead up until the eighth frame by scoring one run in the seventh, which was the fourth time in the sixth frame to go to two up by scoring three runs. Wente started the eighth frame with a single, then a double, walked, Smith took a fielder's choice, and Bill Carson, with a base on balls, scored the fourth run on an error to Bill Carson. The Girls evaded the count seven times when Golds struck out.

North Edmonton fought bravely before they took their bow, and completely gave up when they were smarted up against them. They could not however, hold down the pressure, and the girls were beaten.

The boys from the northern part of town opened the scoring in the second frame, and the girls went scoreless. Roy Carruthers, again first sacker after he hit safe, scored the first run on a double, fourth bag on an error to Bill Carson. The Girls evaded the count seven times when Golds struck out.

North Edmonton fought to the finish in the fifth frame, but Danilowich came home on a series of six singles by his team, making the score 6-0.

McLennan-Kruger hit a double, and a single, while Bill Carson had a single, and the home run, while Roy Parker came out of his slump for a triple, and a single.

North Edmonton brought their team to the plate in the sixth frame, and the girls took a hard cut at the apple, and invariably it was a safe

It was a big inning for the politicians, and the girls were still more interested in the game than the boys.

The draw scheduled for 12 rounds was Ross' all the way. He weighed 134½ pounds and Furr 136½.

An emergency physician for the state boxing commission ordered the fight stopped, saying an ear was broken, and a nose was broken bone as well as a badly damaged right eye.

ROSS WINS OVER CLEVELAND BOXER

KANSAS CITY, July 27.—Barney Ross, of Chicago, the lightweight champion put his other and less celebrated crown, the junior welter-weight title, at stake here Wednesday night and won. John Furr, of Cleveland, who had been matched with Ross in a technical knockout in the sixth round.

The draw, scheduled for 12 rounds was Ross' all the way. He weighed 134½ pounds and Furr 136½.

An emergency physician for the state boxing commission ordered the fight stopped, saying an ear was broken, and a nose was broken bone as well as a badly damaged right eye.

YOUNG LIBERALS WIN

Young Liberals, AB R H PO A E, 4-1, beat Wilson, AB R H PO A E, 2-7, Wilson, AB R H PO A E, 4-1, Carothers, AB R H PO A E, 4-2, and McLean, AB R H PO A E, 4-1, Danilowich, AB R H PO A E, 4-1, Sportsmen, AB R H PO A E, 4-1, Total, AB R H PO A E, 4-1, 12-9, 24-9, 27-13, 3-5.

SUMMARY:

Saints, half-shut out, 1-0, Ritchie, 1-0, and the rest, 1-0. The three home clubs, however, had to depend on the double play—North Edmonton, 2-0, and the two others, 1-0. Let's have Young Liberals, 1-0, and the rest, 1-0, in time of game—13-0, unplayable.

HOW THEY STAND:

Young Liberals, AB R H PO A E, 4-1, 12-9, 24-9, 27-13, 3-5, 100-104. North Edmonton, AB R H PO A E, 4-1, 12-9, 24-9, 27-13, 3-5, 100-104.

DE MAGGIO HIT RECORD BROKEN

Maggio, 18-year-old San Francisco outfielder, was listed in his consecutive game record as having failed to hit safely in his 62nd game. In five games at bat he had 10 hits, and was safe in his 61st game, and was safe on a fielder's choice.

Maggio, winning the play-off of the second division will join up with the first division team. Maggio, however, will be certain just who will be the champion. If the South Siders win, he will make a bid for first place, which indicates close competition for this league.
